

If the uploaded javascript (.js) art asset in your asset library has no thumbnail and is not able to be copied over into scenarios (and you have already tried refreshing the page), please follow these steps:

1. Delete previous published files (.html and .js only)
2. Resave the animate (.fla) file under a different file name (example: version 01_03 becomes version 01_04)
3. Publish .html and .js assets under the same name as the .fla file
4. Do not publish two differently named .js files from the same file (this might break the asset if they're from the same root file, even if things have been changed since the first publishing)
5. You may delete the previously used .fla file (example: version 01_03) and keep the most up-to-date one (version 01_04)
